Government and industry hand in hand

The Turkish Ministry of Labour and Social Security was not only involved in the opening ceremony but also actively represented with its own stand. This illustrates the growing importance of safety at work and occupational safety standards in Türkiye.

“TOS+H Expo has proven an indispensable platform, not just for presenting innovative products and technologies but also for the exchange between regional experts and international manufacturers that drives progress in the field of safety and health at the workplace. The combination between exhibition and symposium makes a decisive contribution to the development of new standards for a safe world of work in Turkey,” explains Petra Cullmann.

Exhibitors’ testimonials reflect satisfaction

“The TOS+H trade fair, that we took part in for the first time, was a resounding success for us. We gained valuable experience and made excellent customer contacts and will also exhibit at further editions in the coming years,” explains Sedat Pekbas, General Manager at FUCAN PERSONEL GİYİM VE.

Necati Gökhan Aslan of Mekap, a second-time exhibitor, reported:

“Exhibiting as Mekap in TOS+H once again proved a great experience for our company. Thanks to the professional marketing services and excellent support provided by the organisers we had a successful trade fair.”
